

Temptation

How to kill a Wolf is an old Indian trick. You make a blood Popsicle out of a knife.

One starts with a sharp knife and plenty of animal blood. With the knife blade, pour some animal blood over the knife blade and freeze the knife. Repeat this process until you have made a Popsicle made out of blood, with the knife blade in the middle.

Next, the knife is buried in the woods with the blade up and the handle in the ground.

The Wolf will lick the blood Popsicle in anticipation of more blood. After a while the Wolf will be drinking its own blood. The Wolf will be found dead by the knife.

Conclusion

Temptation never starts off feeling bad but ends in the same place.
