

Day Trip Story by Mike Dorough

We made many Day Trips while in Oregon. The trips that I remember best are: Monkey Face, Multnomah Falls froze over, Burping Contest, and buying Chocolate Milk..

I remember the hiking trip to Monkey Face. Jennifer , Michael, and I were on our way to hike Monkey Face. It was called that because the mountain looked like a giant monkey face. We ate breakfast before our hike. The breakfast gave me much gas. I could drive a badger in a hole at 100 yards, up wind. The kids gave me much grace that trip. We saw two baby eagles by looking through a spotting scope. We had a good time that day.

We all piled into the truck (Marilyn and the kids) and drove to Multnomah Falls just to see it froze over. This was a once in a life time event. What a sight to see this big fall frozen over.

On a Day Trip Jennifer, Michael, and I had a Bumping Contest. We drank pop to make us burp. I started it off with a big burp. Jennifer beat me next. Michael sounded like a big Bull Frog and beat us all. When Michael made that burp, Jennifer sprayed pop all over the inside of the window. We laughed about that many days to come.

In picking up Jennifer after school, we (Michael and I) on many occasions stopped and bought some chocolate milk. We would drink the chocolate milk and spoil our dinner. Marilyn would wonder why we did not eat much those days.
