

Website Update

I have updated my website to reflect the following categories (buttons/sections/grouping of information): Memories, God's Wisdom, Recipes, Stories, Photos, and Resume.

You may access my website at www.mikedorough.net

The navigation is like most websites except the "Home" button is the "Memories" button. The largest section of the website is the God's Wisdom section, containing approximately 60 documents. All documents can be read or printed – your choice!

The Photo section of the website only reflect a few pictures. The intent is to give the reader a favor of my memories. Note – on the vacation pictures of the website, don't forget to left click on the picture to see more pictures.

The website may be visited as many times as it is needed. I plan on using this website as a vehicle to convey information.

This website has been professionally updated by a web master. I recommend his services to develop your website, if you have a website. He has developed in days what I could do in years. He is worth his weight in gold. For site information contact webmaster@weightmansweb.com
